THE MOST CRUSHING DEFEAT IN MODERN HISTORY

Tien Tsin, March 12, 12:10 p. m.---The well informed here roughly estimate the total Russian casualties at 150,000, and those of the Japanese at 60,000. It is reported that Tie Pass is practically undefended and another great action is not regarded as improbable. A Japanese officer said: We must push the Advantage home and give no respite until a crushing defeat has been administered to the enemy. Japan will not be first to offer peace in this great battle."

SHAKHE RIVER RESULTS.

Tokio, March 13.—Field Marshal Oyama reporting today says: "Prisoners, spoils and the enemy's estimated casualties against all our forces in the Shakhe direction follow, but the prisoners, guns and spoils are increasing momentarily. The prisoners number over 40,000. The enemy's dead left on the field number 26,500. The spoils include two flags, about sixty guns, 60,000 rifles, 150 ammunition wagons, 75,000 bushels of cereals, 275,000 bushels of fodder, 45 miles of light railroad outfit, 25,000 horses, 23 carloads of maps, 1,000 carloads of clothing and accoutrements, 1,000,000 rations of bread, 70,000 tons of fuel and 60 tons of hay, besides tools, tents, bullocks, telegraph wire and poles, timber, beds, stoves and numerous other articles. No report from the Singking direction has been received."

Tien Tsin, March 12, 2 p. m.—Later estimates place the Russian dead left on the field at about 30,000. Over 80 guns and 65,000 rifles were captured.

Tokio, March 12, 7 p. m.—Field Marshal Oyama reports that 40,000 prisoners were taken and that there were 90,000 Russian casualties in the Shakhe river direction alone.

St. Petersburg, March 12.—General Kuropakin has telegraphed to Emperor Nicholas. "From Feb. 28, to March 11, inclusive, 1,190 officers and 46,301 men are missing from roll call."

FRUITS OF JAPAN'S VICTORY.

The armies on the Shakhe quarter reported up to Sunday morning the following approximate figures, which are still increasing:
"Prisoners, over 40,000, including Major General Nakhimoff.
"Russian corpses on the field, 26,500.
"Other Russian casualties, 90,000.
"Trophies, two ensigns, sixty guns, 60,000 rifles, 150 ammunition wagons, 1,000 army wagons, 20,000 shells, 25,000,000 shots for rifles, 74,000 bushels of grain, materials for light railroad for 46 miles, 300 wagons for light load, 2,000 horses, 23 Chinese carts full of maps, 1,000 Chinese carts full of clothing, 1,000,000 portions of bread, 150,000,000 pounds of fuel, 223,000 bushels of horse allowances and 125,000 pounds of hay."

MRS. CHADWICK PROSTRATED; HAS HOPES FOR REVERSAL.

Counsel for Cleveland Woman Declares Verdict Was Not According to Terms of Indictment—Unfortunate Jury, He Says.

Cleveland, Ohio, March 11.—Mrs. Cassie L. Chadwick was tonight night convicted of conspiracy against the United States. The jury required only brief deliberation to find her guilty on all of the seven counts of the indictment on which she was tried. The verdict makes possible a maximum penalty of 14 years at hard labor in the penitentiary and a fine of $70,000 in addition to the imprisonment.

The conviction of the ruined queen of finance was a sensational and hysterical conclusion to a trial that has been replete with tragedy and absorbing dramatic interest. Mrs. Chadwick collapsed completely when the fateful words were read to her, and for half an hour her pitiful sobs and outcries rang through the deserted Federal Building like the wailing of a lost soul.

"I'm not guilty. Oh! how can they say I am?" she shrieked, while her devoted son, Emil Hoover, and a half dozen court attaches strove vainly to control her frenzied plunges.

"Take me away," she moaned. And then, as Emil tried to whisper in her ear something of encouragement and comfort, she turned upon him like a tigress, half mad from the delirium of her grief and the pain of her despair. She sought to push him from her, and then she fell exhausted into his weak but willing arms, sobbing like a baby.

"God Pity Me!" She cried.

"God pity me," she moaned. How can I ever look into your eyes again, my darling child? Your mother—"

The words were drowned in a tempestuous burst of weeping.

Mrs. Chadwick was nerved for the verdict, she thought, as did every one who came in contact with her in the last hours of her trial. She fully expected to be convicted, and her attorneys had prepared her for the worst that might befall. It is hard to conceive how she would have taken the verdict had she been allowed falsely to build up her hopes on expectations that could never have been realized. As it was, the scene which followed the announcement to her of the verdict was distressing to a point that cannot be described. But one dramatic element was lacking to make her behavior the very essence of human grief utter despair and heartrending anguish. That was the fortunate absence of spectators who had crowded the courtroom to the point of suffocation ever since the celebrated trial has been in progress.

At 3:30 o'clock this afternoon Judge Taylor finished his charge and announced to the jurors that they might retire for the adjudication of the case. Court did not immediately recess and consequently the prisoner remained seated in her accustomed place beside the trial table. She was weak and dispirited. Mentally and physically she was on the verge of prostration, and she was fully aware of that fact. Her attendance at her trial from the first day has only been possible, as she herself stated, to the frequent application of strong stimulants. On the last day of her ordeal even this false strength failed her.

Attack of Neuralgia.

Late in the afternoon an acute attack of neuralgia seized her and centered in her right arm. The acute pain from this sudden affliction was most difficult to be born in connection with the other troubles which claimed her as their victim. However the two nurses who had attended the trial at Marshal Chandler's behest worked over her almost constantly, and she was able to sit through the closing hours of the argument and Judge Taylor's charge. It was found necessary, though, to send for a pillow upon which the sufferer rested the suffering arm.

At four o'clock Court recessed and Mrs. Chadwick went down stairs to the Marshal's office, where something of her accustomed cheerfulness and bodily strength gradually came back to her. She passed the long and keenly torturing hours of suspense in chat with the two nurses.

Mrs. Chadwick was found guilty on all seven counts on which the jury was at liberty to judge her. The original indictment contained 16 counts. Two of these were ruled out during the trial by Judge Taylor and of the remaining 14 one-half charged her with securing the certification of checks without having the proper entries made on the books of the bank. Judge Taylor in his charge directed the jury to disregard these counts and consider only the remaining seven, which related to the certification with no funds on deposit.

The Verdict Received.

The jury left the court room at 2:55 o'clock. It was announced two hours later that a verdict had been reached. Word was sent to Judge Taylor, and he set 8:26 as the time at which he would appear in court to receive the verdict. Mrs. Chadwick came into court about five minutes before the jury. She was accompanied by her son, Emil Hoover, and two trained nurses. She sank into the seat she has occupied during the trial and rested her face in the palm of her hand, a position she had held almost constantly throughout the sessions of court. During this afternoon she was suffering severely from neuralgia in her right arm, being at times barely able to use it. She forgot all about the cramped position in her excitement, and moved the arm as though nothing had ever troubled it.

The jury sat silently in their chairs waiting for the appearance of Judge Taylor, and around the dim lighted court room stood thirty persons. Of Mrs. Chadwick's counsel Judge Wing alone was present, and he sat silent with a frown on his face. Judge Taylor entered from his chambers and walked quietly to his chair.

"I have it, Your Honor," said Clerk Carleton, holding up a slim white paper. Then, turning his face to the court room the Clerk said: "Gentlemen, answer to your names as they are called."

All the jurymen responded and Clerk Carleton unfolded the verdict and stood up.

"We find to count one, Guilty."

The sentence was repeated six times more for the six remaining counts, and then Mr. Carleton resumed his seat.

"Gentlemen," said the Judge, "was this, and is it, your verdict?"

An inarticulate murmur of assent rose from the jury, and then in a few words Judge Taylor thanked and dismissed the jury.

Failed To Grasp It.

Mrs. Chadwick had failed utterly to grasp the meaning of the verdict. She is slightly deaf and Clerk Carleton read the verdict in a tone so low that it was inaudible ten feet away. As the people around her began to move and talk the prisoner grasped the fact that her fate was decided. She glanced at Judge Wing, whose tall form was close to her side.

"We have lost, Mrs. Chadwick," was all he said.

This time she realized it. She turned half around to look at Emil Hoover behind her, reading there a confirmation of the words of Judge Wing. She flushed deeply and raised her hand in a bewildered fashion to her head. Suddenly her limbs seemed to give way beneath her and she sank feebly into her chair. Her head fell forward on her hands, and a succession of strangled sobs came from her throat, while Emil and Judge Wing sought vainly to comfort her.

"The Government moves for sentence, Your Honor," said District Attorney Sullivan.

"We desire to enter a motion for a new trial," said Judge Wing, stepping forward.

"I will at a future time set a date for the argument on the motion for a new trial," said Judge Taylor, "and I presume the matter can rest until that time."

"That is satisfactory to the Government," said Mr. Sullivan. Judge Wing bowed a silent assent and stepped back to the side of distracted client.

Mrs. Chadwick soon composed herself, raised her head, wiped her eyes and rose to her feet with an air of defiance. Attended by Deputy Marshal Clobitz, Emil Hoover and Judge Wing, she walked steadily to the hallway to take the elevator. It was not there, and in the slight delay Mrs. Chadwick's composure deserted her utterly. She violently threw off the arm of Deputy Marshal Clobitz and that of her son, exclaiming: "Let me go. Oh, my God, let me go!"

Tottered in Weakness.

She tottered in weakness and Clobitz, together with Deputy Marshal Minder, stepped quickly to her side.

"I'm not guilty," she exclaimed, and then, with all the energy gone from her voice, she moaned again and again, "Oh let me go, let me go, I'm not guilty, I tell you; let me go."

Suddenly she fell against Judge Wing. He caught her by the shoulders and kept her from falling until Deputy Marshal Minder came up on the other side. Together the two men lifted her bodily into the elevator, which descended one floor, and she was taken, half walking and half carried, into the office of United States Marshal Chandler and placed on a sofa. An attack of hysteria followed which lasted fully 15 minutes, her sobs and cries being distinctly audible in the hall outside.

The nurses were in prompt attendance and applied restoratives diligently. In about half an hour from the Denver Man Commits Hideous Series of Crimes With Rifle—Brooded Over Results of Bitter Law Suit.

Denver, March 13.—Mad with rage because his defeat in a law suit, in which K. Fill, the man whom he pronounced his bitterest enemy had been victorious and swearing vengeance against him and his family, George Schistler, a teamster, armed himself with a rifle today and started out to do murder. As a result of the fray three persons are dead, one missing and three others wounded, two at least dangerously.

The dead: K. Fill, Mrs. K. Fill, George Schistler. The missing: A child of the Fills.

Wounded: Dr. Frank Dulin, police surgeon; Capt. William Bohanna, acting chief of police; Mr. Mike Kelly.

The wife of George Schistler is prostrated over the affair and may die from the shock.

Schistler had brooded over his troubles with the Fill family who were immediate neighbors and announced today that he would even up matters. Taking a rifle of improved pattern, and buckling on a belt of smokeless cartridges, he started for the Fill home. Fill saw Schistler approaching and heard his threats. He tried to avoid him by entering the house, but Schistler sent a bullet into his brain and Fill fell dead.

Mrs. Fill rushed to her husband's side and received a bullet from Schistler's rifle. She too, fell dead, beside the lifeless body of her husband. Schistler then set fire to the Fill home which was destroyed. As one of the Fills is missing it is believed to have perished in the flames. Satisfying himself that the names would perform their mission, Schistler returned to his own home and barricaded himself. In the mean time neighbors approached on the scene but were repulsed.

quickly retreated when bullets from Schistler's rifle began falling near them. A telephone message was sent to police headquarters and an ambulance with police surgeon Dulin, Captain Bohanna and three officers hurried to the scene. Upon the arrival of the officers and before they could leave the ambulance a rally of bullets fell about them. Dulin and Bohanna fell to the floor of the ambulance wounded. The driver reined his horses to the ground. With the assistance of a spectator the wounded men were removed from the scene.

Dulin was shot three times, once in each leg and another time in the left thigh. His condition is critical. Bohanna received a bullet in the leg, but is not dangerously hurt.

A call for reinforcements brought all the available men from police headquarters and the sheriff's office and a consultation was held to formulate a plan to capture Schistler. Firing squads were stationed in the nearby houses and a large force was placed in a portable fort made of baled hay piled on a hay wagon. During the preliminary arrangements Schistler kept up a continuous fire in all directions. This was returned by the officers and hundreds of shots were exchanged. Kelly was slightly wounded. Finally Schistler ceased firing and the hay fort was moved cautiously toward the house. When the fort reached the front gate without a shot being fired, one of the officers stepped out into view, thinking to draw the fire of Schistler if he were still alive. None came and with a rush the officers charged the house and battered down the doors. They found Schistler lying upon a bed bleeding from several wounds. He died soon afterwards.

Police Convinced Same Persons Who Tried to Poison

Her in San Francisco Succeeded in Second Attempt at Honolulu.

Suspicion Points to Miss Richmond and Beverley, But Police Admit Evidence is Not Sufficient to Warrant Arrest.

San Francisco, March 13.—Now that the verdict of the coroner's jury in Honolulu has finally established the death of Mrs. Jane Stanford as a case of murder by strychnine poisoning, the police of San Francisco are bending every energy to the discovery and conviction of the murderer.

"No arrests will be made at present," said Chief Detective Burnett. "We shall await a communication from Detective Reynolds, who will arrive in Honolulu today. While we have gathered a great quantity of facts, we have not yet enough evidence to lay a charge of murder against any person."

"I must say that the verdict was a surprise. For I did not think Mrs. Stanford died from strychnine poisoning."

DETROIT SOUTHERN REORGANIZATION PLAN

Bond Issue Worked Out by Syndicate.

AN ENTRANCE TO TOLEDO WILL BE Secured as Soon as the Details Have Been Completed.

The Detroit Southern railroad, ordered sold last Monday by Judge Thompson in the United States court at Cincinnati is to be thoroughly reorganized. The plan of reorganization has been prepared by the H. B. Hollins company of New York, the company that already controls the C. H. & D. and the Pere Marquette.

As soon as the reorganization is completed, arrangements will be made to give the Detroit Southern an entrance into Toledo over the C. H. & D. from Leipsic Junction. The Detroit Southern already owns dock property at Ironville, and a yard and freight terminal will be put in on the property, as well as docks built.

The Detroit Southern will run its trains up from Leipsic Junction over the C. H. & D. to the junction with the Terminal line, and then over the Terminal to the company's yards. A track to the dock property has already been put in by the Terminal.

Plans Are Worked Out.

The reorganization plans also provide for extensions of the company's line into Kentucky and West Virginia. A certain amount is provided for in the plan, to be used in the construction of bridges and extensions of the company's line.

It is expected that the Hollins syndicate, undoubtedly acting for some one of the great railroad powers, has acquired a majority of the Detroit Southern stock and is in control of the road. The order for the sale of the property was brought about by the Hollins interests, in order to organize the road according to their own plans.

The sale of the road will be advertised in Cincinnati, Springfield, Toledo, Detroit and New York papers, and later the road will be sold by Gen. B. R. Cowen, of Cincinnati, appointed special master to sell the road, by Judge Thompson.

OIL TRUST FOES APPEAL TO THE PRESIDENT.

Kansas Operators Make Direct Pleas to the Chief Executive.

Ask Aid Against Great Monopoly—New Feature in War of Independent Operators in the Western States.

Independence, Kan., March 13.—Kansas oil operators have appealed from the state courts direct to the President of the United States in their fight against the Standard Oil trust.

For the first time in the history of the Standard's war with the people a representative body of men have asked to aid them in their strength against this greatest of monopolies.

The telegram follows: The President, Theodore Roosevelt, Washington, D. C.

It was developed in the testimony in the suit of the State of Kansas vs. the Santa Fe Railroad yesterday at Topeka, we think conclusively, that the Santa Fe Railway, the Missouri Pacific Railway, the Missouri, Kansas and Texas Railway and the Union Pacific Railway are now flagrantly violating the decrees of the Supreme Court in the case of the United States vs. Joint Traffic Association, 171 U.S. 505 United States vs. Trans-Missouri Freight Association, 166 U.S. 291, by reason of their membership in the Trans-Missouri Freight Bureau. We should respectfully request your honor's enforcement of the decree.

Kansas Oil Producers' Association. H. E. WEST, President.

K. M. PARKER, Secretary.

The testimony of shippers by deposition here shows to the satisfaction of the public officials that the Standard Oil Company and the railroads are in an iron-clad combination.

See Plot of Officials.

Kansans who are so thoroughly familiar with the relationship between Standard Oil and the Prairie Oil & Gas Company of this state are astounded at the pretended ignorance of W. J. Young, president of the latter company. He admitted under oath here that he does not know that John D. Rockefeller is president of Standard, that he is not personally acquainted with the directors of the company, that he does not know to whom he sends his proxy for the Standard Oil stock he owns when the directory meetings are held.

Yet he has admitted that some of the principal officers of the Prairie Oil & Gas Company have their offices at 26 Broadway. He does not know what other officers there are at that number.

Even though he was ignorant on the vital points of his own business, Young was compelled to admit, under the fire of questions, that his company sells its oil to the Standard Oil Company in Kansas. This constitutes the transaction of business, and to operate the company has no authority to operate here the admission made by Young will prove serious to the Standard in his case now pending in the State Supreme Court.

This is a suit to oust it from the state. The Kansas oil producers now believe that they have found sufficient evidence in the investigation, which the Attorney General C. C. Coleman and Mr. Frank Monnett are making to justify the President in acting to regulate the companies the state association through its president and secretary in sending this message to President Roosevelt today.

OIL STATEMENT FOR FEBRUARY

Net Stocks of Lima Oil Declined 417,884 Barrels During the Month.

Operations in Ohio at a Standstill—Some Activity in Indiana's Deep Pay Territory.

Oil operators hereabouts are taking matters in a very quiet way just now. Toledo producers are in no hurry. They are watching the west closely and seem to desire to see the limit of the country before making further effort to increase their daily output.

Following is a statement of the oil handled during February by the Buckeye Pipe Line company and other lines handling Lima oil:

Acceptance and vouchers	2,600,000.00
Credit balances	10,826,414.04
Total liabilities	13,426,414.04
Gross stocks	17,269,482.31
Sediments and surplus	2,843,068.27
Runs from wells	1,444,111.74
Other receipts	111,261.63
Total receipts	1,556,373.27
Regular deliveries	1,939,427.96
Total deliveries	939,427.96

The statement as compared with that presented a month ago shows up quite favorably. The gross stock on the first of February amounted to 17,269,482 barrels. Deducting the sediment and surplus, 2,843,068 barrels we have net stocks 14,444,298.

On March first the gross stock appeared to be 17,269,482 barrels and deducting sediment and surplus 2,843,068, we have net stocks 14,444,298 barrels during February.

The receipts for the month of January, 1,939,427, and for February, 1,556,373 barrels. This makes a daily production in January of 65,584 barrels.

Credit balances fell off just the amount of stock reduction. The deliveries for January were 1,943,371 and for February they were 1,939,427. The shipments were a trifle less than in January but the great decline appeared in the runs. This may have

The fact is that good stuff in Delaware county is pretty well drilled up. Hereafter the trade must "go abroad" for something rich.

On the Howell farm in section 28, Delaware township, Kunkle & Brown have a new well that made a beginning of 150 barrels the first 24 hours.

In other parts of the Hoosier field recent completions have been of the very light species. The most promising well of the past week was obtained by the Ohio Oil company on the Phillips farm in section 23, Washington township, Grant county. It started at 85 barrels.

Ohio operations are very moderate in returns also. C. A. Browning has a duster in a test well in the Barnhouse farm in section 6, Allen township, Hancock county.

In the same township the Iowa Oil company has a new well good for 25 barrels natural.

Gilbert & Sherman, in the "Four-mile" section, Sandusky county, completed a fair well yesterday.

The South Penn Oil company has found a new fifth sand pool in Netzel county, West Virginia. It is in the Littleton district, which is a Gordon sand producer. Finding a well on the Conney farm a failure in the Gordon, the well was drilled to the lower sands. When the fifth was reached the well made 65 barrels.

The Standard's Position.

One would imagine, from statements made by papers prejudiced in favor of the Standard Oil company, that its only mission to Kansas was one of mercy to the oil producers. Such arguments fall far short of profit to the Standard, and certainly do not exhibit good judgment on the part of the writers. If the Standard did not believe that it would realize big gains by its outlay in that or any other state, it would shun it as it would a viper.

The whole scheme will result in proving that others as well as the Standard may ship, and even refine, oil at profit. To call people Populists and their acts drastic efforts is poor argument and poorer logic. Please offer some reason why anybody else has not as good a right to engage in such enterprises as the Standard Oil company or any other company. This is a free land, and it looks very much now as if the time was coming when there would be more freedom in some branches of business than there has been in the past.

Even Kentucky seems to be onto its job too. But this may be a species of persecution. Acts of this kind should be frowned upon. The Standard has its rights, but it should not arrogate to itself the right to dictate to terms and conditions upon which others may transact their business.

Colds cause congestion and distress. Fluids which should pass through the bowels and kidneys are secreted by the nose and throat. Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea will positively cure. 35 cents. H. F. Vorkamp.

"Do not hug delusions," says Ella Wheeler Wilcox. At least not when there is a Lima girl hanging around.

There are two kinds of people in every city—the good ones and the bad. You will find the kind you look for.

Come people in Lima go to a show to be amused; others go to tell next day how much better shows they have seen.

An exchange defines appendicitis as a modern pain that costs about $200 more than the old-fashioned belly ache.

If all the superfluous goods used in women's apparel were trimmed off and given to the poor, there would be no poor.

The man who never does a thing until he has to do it, never does it as well as the man who does a thing he doesn't have to do.

No woman ever married an average man. He is away above the average when she marries him, and away below the average when she brings suit for divorce.

It's a delicate subject, but if Mr. Patterson should marry Cassie Chadwick there is no telling what sort of financiers the world might come into possession of.

WE KNOW A SOCIETY WOMAN who gets drunk. She will not speak to the other depraved women of the city. She thinks she is better than they are. People have odd ways of reasoning.

CODY VS. CODY.

"Buffalo Bill" Cody says he won't again live with the woman who has been his wife for half a generation who bore and reared his child to young womanhood and who still clings to him though he has spurned her. Admit everything with which he charges her, except possibly his claim that she tried to poison him (and that she emphatically denies), the colonel will not be able to find a handsome surplus in his favor if he strikes an honest balance, not enough to warrant him in pushing his claim for separation.

There is a pathetic side to almost every divorce case, but it is truly pitiful.

able where a man and woman have trudged along together through the up-grade of life sharing each other's burdens, participating in each other's joys, only to find in the declining years, that their paths must diverge. There is pity for both that they can no longer view things in harmony. There is more pity for the woman, for although we do not agree with Byron when he says: "Man's love is of man's life a thing apart," "This woman's whole existence. It is true that most men can recover from the shock caused by blighted affection more readily than can a woman. There is more pity still if these two have brought children into the world—bone of their bone and flesh of their flesh to whom the knowledge of parents estranged must remain a sorrow through life. This is a beautiful world, my masters, with its varying atmospheres, gorgeous landscapes and countless wonders, but how mystifying the workings of the human mind!

HAPPY WOMEN.

Plenty of Them in Lima, and Good Reason For It.

Wouldn't any woman be happy. After years of backache suffering, Days of misery, nights of unrest, The distress of urinary troubles, She finds relief and cure?

No reason why any Lima reader Should suffer in the face of evidence like this:

Mrs. M. M. Myers, of 718 West Spring street, Lima, O., says: "I just as ardently endorse Doan's Kidney Pills today (Sept. 3rd, 1904), as I did six years ago. I had then been relieved of kidney trouble and the most distressing headaches which elung to me for days at a time. I have often said since then that Doan's Kidney Pills were of inestimable value to me. If only for banishing those headaches, but they did more than that. They removed the lameness and soreness from my back and corrected a sluggish condition of the kidneys and so toned up my system that I could enjoy my rest and food better than for years before. Doan's Kidney Pills were procured at Melville's drug store and as I have said before, I would not be without them in the house."

MAIL SERVICE ON ELECTRICS

Companies Quick to Realize the Advantage—Inspector Here Investigating the Applications That Have Been Made by Interurban.

Toledo, March 13.—Toledo's interurban roads are becoming active competitors of the steam roads for the railway mail service business. Quick to realize the added prestige the mail service would give the electric the several interurbans are applying to the government officials for the right to install the railway mail service on the lines operating out of Toledo.

Inspector Heckman of the railway mail service, has been in this city for a week investigating the application of the Lake Shore electric, which is the most recent entry in the field. No report has yet been made on this road. So far but two of the interurban companies have succeeded in getting the mail car installed. These are the Maumee Valley belt line and the Toledo and Western.

ASPARAGUS, A LA FRANCAISE.—

Wash and boil the asparagus until tender—about twenty to twenty-five minutes; drain them, cut off the heads and about two inches of the white part of the stalks; mince them with a knife, and mix them with a small onion cut finely; add the yolk of an egg well beaten; make it hot in a stew-pan and dish it up on a platter, with nicely browned, buttered toast.

CARROTS WITH CREAM.—Cut the carrots in thin slices; boil in water until almost tender; then pour the water off and add butter; fry them a little; then add a few spoons of cream; season with salt and pepper and serve very hot.

KOHLRABI.—Peel, cut it in two, and then slice thin; put into salted water; parboil and then drain; then stew it in some weak broth; when nearly done, shrey some of the green leaves growing at the top, and add them; they will tinge it a light green. When tender, drain out the kohlrabi. Make a bachelard sauce with the liquid in which it is cooked, pour it over the vegetable, let it get hot, and serve. Time, fifteen to twenty-five minutes.

STEWED ENDIVE.—Wash and free six heads of endive thoroughly from insects, remove the green part of the leaves and put it into boiling water slightly salted. Let it remain for ten minutes; then take it out; drain until there is no water remaining and chop it very fine. Put it into a stew-pan with one pint of broth; add a little salt and a lump of sugar, and boil until the endive is perfectly tender. When done, it may be ascertained by squeezing a piece between the thumb and finger, add a thickening of butter and flour, and one tablespoonful of lemon juice; let the same boil up, and serve. Time to boil, ten to fifteen minutes.

AMUSEMENTS

Lovers of the light and more or less frivolous in the amusement line will hail the coming of The Seminary Girl at the Teatro opera house tomorrow night with delight for it is nothing but light and laughter, the cheapest kind of comedy, pretty women in catchy music, gorgeous costumes, elaborate scenery. In fact all that is amusing and gay. There isn't a dull moment with The Seminary Girl and so well does Melville B. Raymond think of this his latest production that arrangements are being made to take it to London in the spring for a run.

There are seventeen musical numbers which are so arranged not to interrupt the action of the piece, and every one of them is much sung, whistled and hummed by the audience on leaving the theatre. The music has that particular swing fire and lit which has been called "catchy."

The opening chorus "Over Hill and Dale" is a rollicking number which immediately puts the house in good humor. Dainty Ruth Peaches of Prince of Pluses fame has the title role, and her entrance song "Things We Learn at School" is clever and very catching. The business introduced is more than apropos. Mabel Mush has two rattling numbers, both of which are tremendous favorites. The one patriotic number is sung by the one patriotic girl, the daughter of Ireland Clark. The girls wear the costumes of Columbia and the men wear the uniforms of the United States. In the second act the musical comedy is followed by an interlude which is followed by the Gormezzo a grand duet by the Gormezzo Brothers and the Misses Marsh and De Vere. Knute Erickson's song "I'm Crazy and I Know It" lives up to the title. The one song in the piece is a melody and the dancing of J. Francis Dooley and the six little blondes is simply wonderful. All in all The Seminary Girl is a most delightful miss and a source of delight to all who have had the good fortune to meet her and her 60 associates.

Our New Minister that greatest of all character plays from the pens of Denman Thompson and George W. Ryer authors of "The Old Homestead" which scored so heavily on its first presentation here last season will be seen at the Teatro Opera House on Wednesday night. "Our New Minister" deals with life in a small New England community called Hardscrabble and with a bold hand the authors have seized persons from the village street and the village meeting and set them boldly on the stage, set them with their crumpled corners their rough edges their misadventures, their conservative tendencies and the humor of their personality and the quaintness of their appearance and speech. And thus we are made to go with them through a phase of public life of absorbing interest. "Our New Minister" is deeply interesting throughout interesting for the problem treated for the liberal and strong way of presentation and for the clever solution the curtain falling on a good laugh all round. All the favorites of the great all star cast will again appear.

Mr. Edison T. Coldren left Saturday afternoon for his home in Lewistown Idaho.

The health authorities state that the situation is well in hand and that the contagion is clearing up nicely.

Nearly every business in the city suffered in a like manner.

A splendid collection of hose supporter corset models from which may be selected a shape to easily create the "fashionable figure." There are no more beautiful models than these. Figure, comfort and style are assured from every detail of the corset. There are several models with and without the attached hose supporters—but we urge that a model with the hose supporters be selected, since the supporters attached by the designer give the perfect ensemble. Not only is the shape a guarantee for a good figure, but the corset is withal so exquisitely dainty that it is a joy to wear it.
